Michigan Chamber endorses Tom Leonard for Attorney General

(LANSING, Mich.) – The Michigan Chamber of Commerce today announced its endorsement of Tom Leonard for State Attorney General.

“Leadership matters in both business and government,” noted Michigan Chamber President & CEO Jim Holcomb. “Michigan needs strong, balanced and effective leadership in the Attorney General’s office. That is why we are pleased to announce our endorsement of Tom Leonard for AG.”

“Tom Leonard is an experienced and exceptionally well qualified candidate for Attorney General,” continued Holcomb. “Having served as a former prosecutor and assistant attorney general, Tom is a proven public servant who has always done his best for Michigan while helping enhance our state’s business climate and economic competitiveness for all to prosper.”

“As our next attorney general, I will stand up for working families and businesses across Michigan and give our local job creators a voice. I am honored to have the support of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce to be our state’s next AG,” said Tom Leonard, candidate for Michigan attorney general.

The Michigan Chamber is a statewide business organization representing thousands of employers of all types and sizes, trade associations and local chambers of commerce from across all 83 counties. The Chamber was established in 1959 to be an advocate for Michigan job providers in the legislative, political and legal process.
