Not the kind of list Michigan wants to rank on

New Judicial Hellholes® report shows state's capital city ranking No. 6

(Lansing, Mich.) – The Michigan Chamber released the following statement from Wendy Block, senior vice president of business advocacy, in response to the American Tort Reform Foundation's just-released 2023-24 annual Judicial Hellholes® report that landed Lansing among the most challenging justice climates:

“It is alarming to see Lansing landing on the 2023-24 Judicial Hellholes list. This unfortunate ranking should serve as a warning to the Michigan Legislature and Michigan Supreme Court to be cautious in the rush to overturn longstanding laws and legal precedent. A state's litigation climate is a significant factor for job providers in determining growth and expansion plans. Michigan's policymakers should take note. A stable, predictable and fair legal system is essential to protecting the state's hardworking families, taxpayers and businesses, upholding faith in this system, and ensuring Michigan can reach its economic potential.”
